How do weather and climate influence cropping area and

The agronomic technology available to farmers can influence how climate influences different components of production. For instance, direct seeding, which is a more time- and labor-saving planting method than transplanting, is often used in Northeast Thailand to compensate for the delayed seedbed preparation when the monsoon onset is late (Sawano et al., 2008).

Factors that Influence Climate Climate and Weather

Climate change over time Cold and warm periods punctuate Earth s long history. Some were fairly short; others spanned hundreds of thousands of years. In some cold periods, glaciers grew and spread over large regions. In subsequent warm periods, the ice retreated. Each period profoundly affected plant and animal life. The most recent cool period, often called the Little Ice Age, ended in western Europe around 1850.

Climate Change and Business International Centre for

Climate change will have a domino effect on agricultural and production operations. For example, a reduction in the supply of agricultural products and scarcity of water may lead to a reduced food supply and threats to food security, a rapid global increase in commodity prices, social and political unrest, inflation, and finally economic slowdown. With such a scenario, business will not be as usual.
